

John Overton Keen for Race Against Ray

Famous Athletes to Meet in Special Event at Wanamaker Games

John W. Ray and John W. Overton will come together in their much talked of one-mile special race at the annual games of the John Wanamaker Commercial Institute at Madison Square Garden next Wednesday evening. Overton has been seen for the meeting, for when the two competed in the one and a half mile race at the Millrose games in January Ray won by a comfortable distance, with Overton second, in the new world's record time of 9:11.2.5.

While the Madison Square Garden four gives quite an impetus to the runner, it does not afford the advantage derived from the banked Meadow Brook track. Ray has been doing short distance work for the race, and it is probable that he will give the Eli athlete a harder race than expected. For the next two days Ray will continue his training on the Flat Regiment floor.

Many Other Features

While the institute officials have catered considerably to the schoolboys, the games have several other features. One is the intercollegiate championship scratch race at five miles, which will start on the starting line a field of fifty athletes. These runners earned the right to compete as a result of try-out races held by the leagues throughout the city, and a stirring race is promised. The greater part of the course will be run over the city streets, and at the end on the Garden track. A team prize will be awarded to the league scoring the first five men at the finish, while eighteen individual prizes will also be distributed.

The high schools will be out in full force, judging from the entry in the various events in this class. The 70-yard scratch has forty entries, while in the Rodman Wanamaker one-mile intercollegiate relay, the teams are said to have been seen in a similar race this season. Some of the teams entered are Mercerburg, St. Paul's, St. John's, Hamilton Institute, Hecox, East Orange, Central High, St. Benedict's and Brooklyn Prep.

Twelve Teams in Relay

In the half-mile relay (120-pound) twelve teams will face the start. The one-mile relay, the schools' intercollegiate championship relay, a field of ten teams will compete. On the Flushing High School team Robert Crawford, interscholastic cross-country champion, will run anchor.

The programme will start with a military review of the Girls' Cadet Battalion, tendered to Major General John F. O'Hara, who will review them. The girls, 300 in number, will be uniformed and will drill according to usual army regulations.

Harold Kellock Wins Class B Squash Title

Harold Kellock defeated J. N. Worcester for the class B squash tennis championship in the final round match at the Columbia Club yesterday. While the match went four games, Kellock won rather decisively. He paid particular attention to driving the ball into the left-hand corner of the back wall. Kellock also mixed up his game to a surprising degree, his cross-court shots and placement "kill" proving an annoyance to Worcester. The scores were 15-8, 10-15, 15-8 and 15-8.

The Manhattan Country Club Opens May 30

The Manhattan Country Club has announced that its new course, recently constructed at Freeport, Long Island, will be opened officially on Memorial Day with a tournament the details of which will be published later.

City College to Play Dozen Baseball Games

Twelve games are on the tennis schedule of the College of the City of New York—six home games and the same number abroad. All New York colleges will be met. Two games will be played with Fordham during the season, which will open with Columbia on April 16 at the latter's court and close with Drexel Institute at home.

Rutgers Announces Its Track Schedule of 1917

New Brunswick, N. J., March 17.—Official announcement was made this afternoon of the Rutgers track schedule for the coming season. Dual meets will be held at home with Stevens and Swarthmore, and away from home with New York University and Tufts. The latter college appears on the Rutgers track schedule for the first time.

The date of the annual intercollegiate meet has been shifted from May 30 to May 5.

Brooklyn Clubs Plan Races for Easter Sunday

Easter Sunday as a day for "cross-country" running would not be complete unless some club conducted a race for the horde of athletes who don their togs when the spring weather begins to set in. Within a few days entry blanks will be ready for distribution among the clubs of the Metropolitan Association for Brooklyn's big event, the second annual novice road run of the Brooklyn A. A.

The enterprising Brooklyn club has received some donations from prominent Brooklynites, which have enabled it to offer some exceptionally valuable prizes. Because of this the Brooklyn A. A., which caters to novices, has decided to make its race a "novice" championship design, with a special novice team championship plaque of silver and gold to the club with the best team of five novice runners.

The winner will receive a silver championship plaque with gold medal and "Novice Championship" engraved on it.

As there are all kinds of novice runners, the idea of a race to decide the best novice in this division was originated by the Brooklyn A. A. The event will be an annual feature with the Brooklyn club, the winner to retain his title till the following year's event. Many clubs who have a promising novice team along will not doubt have him for this contest.

The race will be run over a course measuring five and a quarter miles, through the Bushwick section of Brooklyn.

Hard Baseball Schedule For Manhattan College

Manhattan College has booked many strong rivals for the twenty baseball games that are scheduled this season. Columbia, West Point and Villanova are again to be faced, and other stubborn opponents should develop in Stevens, Crescent Athletic Club and Rutgers.

Lewis Starts Campaign Against Welterweights

Ted Lewis is about to start another campaign against welterweights. On March 19, at the Palace Sporting Club, he will meet Willie Moore; on March 26 Ted will box Jack Britton in Cincinnati; on April 2, Jimmy Duffy in Buffalo; April 9, Len Rowlands in Memphis; and on April 20, Tommy Robinson before the Armory A. A., of Boston. Lewis is in better form now than at any time during his career.

Bloomfield High Nine Faces Heavy Schedule

Bloomfield, N. J., March 17.—Manager David Collins, of the Bloomfield High School baseball team, has announced the annual baseball schedule as follows:

COLUMBIA'S relay swimming team, unbeaten in the dual meets this season, is a strong favorite to win the individual championships in the pool of the University of Pennsylvania on next Saturday night. The boys have made faster time than the present record of 1:44.2.5, and are expected to establish a new standard.

Captain Hal Vollmer, Phil Herbert, Howard and Rogers are fast and strong in the water. The first two have been timed in 24.1-5 seconds and 26 seconds, respectively, for fifty yards. Vollmer is consistent at 25.2-5 seconds. Howard and Rogers may be depended upon to do better than 27 seconds.

Vollmer is the present champion at 220 yards, and holds the record for the 100 yards as well. His time for the century is 55.2-5 seconds.

Phil Herbert, who needs no introduction to swimming enthusiasts, is the star of the team. He is supported by a corps of speedy performers, however, and even were any unforeseen circumstance to prevent him from swimming, the team would not be hopelessly out of it. Phil Herbert, a boy of great speed, is not far behind Vollmer over the half century. Ray Walker, or Bob Howard, the flying Californian; Dick Rogers, Shorty McCabe, Hildebrand and Mort Lewis, the human nork, round out the team.

Hal Vollmer, intercollegiate champion at 220 yards, and holder of the intercollegiate record of 56.2-5 seconds for a century, stands out on the team. He will swim in the 220-yard race of the championships on Saturday night, and will endeavor to break the existing record of 2 minutes and 31 seconds, established by Eben Cross, of Princeton, in 1914. Vollmer has been timed much faster than this record and is confident of hanging up new figures.

Holding the post of honor on the relay team, Vollmer has won his right beyond all question. He swims the fifty yards consistently, faster than 28 seconds, and has been timed on his relay record of 2 minutes and 31 seconds. Vollmer has been timed in races, starting on gun fire in 25.2-5 seconds. His record for the fifty is at his mercy, or so competent judges declare. Frank Sullivan, coach of the Princeton team, said recently that he would not be surprised if Vollmer won three races in the championship. In dual meets this winter Vollmer has scored 63 points.

Herbert Close to Vollmer. Phil Herbert ranks second to Vollmer. He is first man on the relay team and swims in both the fifty yards and hundred yards races as well. He is a powerful boy, broad shouldered and deep chested, with a world of power and endurance. He is master of a powerful crawl and is improving all the time. Herbert is capable of twenty-six seconds for the fifty yards and, moreover, consistent. He can cover the century around the minute mark and has done 55 seconds in practice. Ed Kennedy, coach of the team, believes that he will place in both the fifty and 100 yard races. Herbert has won 51 points in the dual meets.

Ray Walker is showing promise of developing into a high grade performer. He is a member of the relay team and swims in the fifty yards race. He has covered the distance in 26.3-5 seconds repeatedly. What he will accomplish in the championship remains to be discovered. He seems reasonably sure of being on a winner in the relay race, for the Columbia quarter has given its wash to all competitors. Walker has scored 25 points in the dual meets. Dick Rogers and Shorty McCabe are two clever boys on the team. The former, who is on the relay team, swims in the fifty yards and in the furlong as well. Both are good for 27 seconds in the fifty, while Rogers is the star of the team. He is supported by a corps of speedy performers, however, and even were any unforeseen circumstance to prevent him from swimming, the team would not be hopelessly out of it. Phil Herbert, a boy of great speed, is not far behind Vollmer over the half century. Brooklyn Show Will Feature Polo Ponies

Chairman Charles F. Hubbs of the twenty-fifth annual Brooklyn Horse Show, which inaugurates the season for equine exhibitors in the East on April 13, announces the completion of the prize list, which is expected to attract the largest number of exhibitors ever gotten together in the history of the Brooklyn shows.

An innovation this year will be the polo pony class, in which wielders of the mallets will have an opportunity to show their mounts in a way never before offered in a horse show. This class will be for teams of three, which have regularly played this season in at least two games of indoor polo under the auspices of the Indoor Polo Association. The players will carry mallets and will appear in the colors of their respective teams.

Money prizes will be given to first and second awards in all classes, except in a few, where silver cups will be the awards. The President's Cup, donated by Thomas L. Leeming, president of the Brooklyn Riding and Driving Club, will be competed for by horses, daisies or undoes, 15 and not exceeding 16 hands. These horses will be entered and shown by amateurs.

The general prize list classes are well arranged and should be of particular interest to prospective exhibitors. They are divided into events for horses and ponies in harness, polo mounts, saddle horses, ponies in saddle, jumpers and military horses. A class of special interest will be for zig horses.

The Patterson champions will play the Manhattan All Stars at Manhattan Casino this afternoon in an Interstate Basketball League game. The visitors have just succeeded in running up a string of twelve consecutive victories. At 2:30 the final game of the series between Union Settlement and Parsons will be played.

The Soul Cracker

The drive that goes two hundred yards is soft enough enough for me; I do not mind the traps that yawn Beyond the festive tree; But I can feel my brain career, My bleeding soul is cut, The time I meet upon the green A down-hill three-foot putt.

I'll meet a gunman any day And not give way an inch; I've tackled bill collectors where My nerve refused to flinch; I've hit a line and run an end, I've blocked a runner, but My knees still shake each time I face A down-hill three-foot putt.

Most cricket players in this country stick to their own game. Norman Maxwell, the star young Philadelphia golfer, was a cricket player, and so was Harry Vaughn, the old Red star. But we know of no other eminent athletes in other lines who ever indulged in cricket to any great extent. Although any number of good cricket players take up other games as a side line, they stick to cricket in the main details.

It would be an interesting experiment some day to train a team of crack ball players for a cricket ensemble and observe how well they could make out against some well known cricket array.

Pirates Get Ben Shaw

Pittsburgh, March 17.—Barney Dreyfus, president of the Pittsburgh Nationals, was notified to-day that his club has been awarded, by the waiver route, Catcher Ben Shaw, from the New York Americans. He will report at Columbus, Ga., the Pirates' spring training camp.

Inman Wins Final Game

London, March 17.—The thirteenth and final game of the series arranged between Inman and Reece ended recently at the Leinster Square Saloon in a win for Melbourne Inman by 2,700 points. After one of the most remarkable games in the champion's career. For the second week he averaged 64 per inning and made three 800 breaks.

Sterling Martin captured the special St. Patrick's Day squash tennis tournament in defeating W. D. Lyon in the final match at the Heights Casino, Brooklyn, yesterday. The score was 15-10, 15-3. In a second round match of the Class A championship series Rudolph Goepel eliminated Thomas H. Reardsley. 15-12, 1-15, 15-10.

Columbia Swimmers Should Land Title

Vollmer Only One of Many Fine Performers of Blue and White

By FRANK O'NEILL

The University of Columbia's swimming team, unbeaten in the round robin tournament in the Intercollegiate Swimming League, is a strong favorite for the individual championships to be held in the natorium of the University of Pennsylvania on next Saturday night. The Blue and White team is strong and well balanced in every department with the exception of the fancy diving. S. C. Merrill and Mills are both clever performers, but they scarcely measure up to championship standards. Allowing for this weakness, there is still sufficient power on the team to carry it through.

Columbia has competed in eight dual meets, winning all. Its victims include the College of the City of New York, Rutgers, Yale, Princeton and Pennsylvania. The margin of victory has been wide in each instance. The Quakers and the Bulldog managed to score twenty points against the Blue and White, but the other teams were forced to rest content with fewer credits. Princeton was vanquished in two meets by the same scores—39 to 14. The C. C. N. Y. was even less fortunate, and bowed twice with the totals 42 to 11 in each instance. Yale and Penn were beaten by scores of 35 to 20, while Rutgers gathered only 10 points to 43 for Columbia.

Vollmer Star of Columbia

Captain Hal Vollmer, who needs no introduction to swimming enthusiasts, is the star of the team. He is supported by a corps of speedy performers, however, and even were any unforeseen circumstance to prevent him from swimming, the team would not be hopelessly out of it. Phil Herbert, a boy of great speed, is not far behind Vollmer over the half century. does the 220 yards in 2 minutes and 50 seconds, or thereabouts.

Howard Swims for Diversion

Bob Howard, a native son of California, is making his bid for fame in Columbia. He is held in high esteem by Ed Kennedy, but his attention to music has rather retarded his development as a swimmer. Bob is an accomplished violinist and spends from six to eight hours a day practicing. At odd moments he wanders into the pool for a swim and then dashes back to his beloved Strad. Howard can turn the fifty in 36 seconds or close to it, and is good for 82 seconds over the century. Did he decide to train for the longer distance, there is little doubt in Coach Kennedy's mind he would cut his time down one minute.

Mort Lewis, the baby doll of the team, is master of the art of plunging. He has won the event in most of the dual meets this winter and is good for seventy feet almost any time he starts. He has done 74 feet 6 inches, and is regarded as a certain point winner in the championships.

Columbia men swear by Ed Kennedy, the coach who has developed these men. Vollmer, of course, was a star in his schoolboy days. Hal, indeed, is a natural swimmer, but there is no doubt in the minds of Columbia men that he owes much of his wonderful success to Kennedy. Vollmer saves no himself. Herbert, Walker, Rogers, McCabe and the others aver that Columbia has the best coach in the country.

Gadfly, Seagoing Houseboat, Has Successful Trial

The Gadfly, a twin screw houseboat of the latest seagoing type, designed by Glew & Orr, of this city, for Robert Kennedy, of Philadelphia, was successfully launched from the yard of her builders, Kyle & Purdy, at City Island, and was given a most satisfactory trial trip yesterday on the Sound. The yacht, in charge of Captain Tyler, soon starts for Florida, where her owner will use her for cruising.

The Gadfly, which combines the seagoing qualities of a good motor yacht with the material comforts of a houseboat, measures 107 feet 3 inches over all, 101 feet 6 inches water line, 20 feet 6 inches beam and 3 feet 6 inches draft when fully loaded. The owners and guests' quarters, which are in the after part of the vessel, include five staterooms and baths. There are also staterooms for the captain, engineer and steward. The deckhouse is 46 feet long, with a pantry in the forward end, followed by the dining room, about 15 feet long. The rest of the space, of 15 feet, and the full width of the deckhouse, is taken up with a social hall, the entrance to which is from the deck on the starboard side. The bridge, or steering platform, is on top of the deckhouse and has brass rails on stanchions, to which canvas weather cloths may be attached.

The Gadfly's machinery includes two six-cylinder 64 by 9 inch Winton motors, of 75-horsepower each, which are calculated to drive the vessel at a speed of twelve to thirteen miles an hour. The main tank is gas and has good cruising radius. There is an electric lighting plant, a searchlight, electric pumps, and compressors, storage batteries and a thermo fan system for heating, cooling, and ventilating the yacht, which is also supplied with four small boats, two having motors.
